Midtown Residents to Get First Look at District's Plans for Next 10 Years

Public to weigh in on updates at Town Hall meeting

Houston, TX (January 12, 2015) – The Cultural Arts and Entertainment Committee of the Midtown Management District hosts a Town Hall meeting to update residents on the proposed 10-year Service and Improvement Plan and Assessment Plan. The Town Hall meeting will take place Monday, January 12th at 6:00 p.m. at The Ensemble Theatre located at 3535 Main St.

The meeting provides the first opportunity for stakeholders to review the Service Plan and for property owners in the Midtown District to sign petitions of support. The Marketing Committee and the Urban Planning Committee will provide updates, and there will be an open dialogue session where stakeholders can provide input. Additionally, the Cultural Arts and Entertainment Committee will discuss the general process for developing the Midtown Cultural Arts Master Plan.

"This is a great opportunity for residents and business owners to get a first look at the Service Plan," said Matt Thibodeaux, Midtown Management District executive director. "We want as many stakeholders as possible to be engaged in planning the future of Midtown to ensure that the area is attractive for families, working professionals, seniors and visitors."

The Cultural Arts and Entertainment Committee has conducted focus groups, held interviews and hosted community meetings to gather input and support for the proposed 2015 – 2024 Service and Improvement Plan and Assessment Plan.

Midtown is a thriving mixed-use community that exemplifies the unique experience of urban living in Houston. It is arguably the area's most diverse neighborhood, while its cultural arts, living options and business opportunities have become the city's most-prized.

The 10-Year Service and Improvement Plan and Assessment Plan is only one step in the advancement of Midtown, which is located southwest of Downtown Houston, bordered by Neartown, U.S. Highway 59 and Interstate 45.

The next Midtown Town Hall meeting where residents and business owners will have an opportunity to review the Service Plan will be held February 4, 2015. Details about that meeting will follow in future communications.
